An ongoing body of work by artist Sara Cunningham-Bell, who is based on the North Coast. It is a visual allegory which endeavours to show how, with positive co-existence, difference becomes strength, and the inclusion of a plethora of form can create a richer tapestry within society.

FRAMEWORK

Alacoque Davey

18 April-26 May

An exhibition of new works on paper and small assemblages by Belfast based artist Alacoque Davey.

Using the concept of 'framework' as a device within which to explore the relationship between space and the elements placed within, Alacoque's artwork plays with geometric forms and line; an enquiry into balance, alignment and placement. Central to the theme of the work is the idea of absence and the ambiguity of empty space.

Working across several disciplines including ceramic, print, drawing and painting, Alacoque studied at John Moores University Liverpool graduating with a BA Hons in Fine Art before gaining an MA from Ulster University. She has been a member of Queen Street Studios Belfast since 2003 and has exhibited widely including Denmark this Autumn.

Wars of the 17th century,
Penal Laws imposing civil
and religious penalties,
Scottish immigration,
economic challenges...

29 June – 25 August

Wars of the seventeenth century, Penal Laws imposing civil and religious penalties, Scottish immigration, economic challenges and the introduction of new industries all impacted on the Causeway area in the early eighteenth century. This was the background of the first organised migration from Ulster to North America - the 1718 Bann Valley Migration. This exhibition explores the people and places of the Causeway area, connecting local people and places with bigger national stories. Discover what was happening, why it happened, and what the 1718 Bann Valley Migration was all about.

AS THE CROW FLIES

Eleanor Wheeler

4-31 August

Eleanor studied ceramics and sculpture in Aberdeen and Cardiff, completing a PhD in architectural ceramics and public art at Northumbria University. Upon returning to Northern Ireland, she has specialized in making large scale sculpture for public spaces, buildings and gardens, including the Gasworks, Belfast, Market Square in Armagh, The Mater Hospital and lately, Drumglass Park in Belfast.

In between commissions, Eleanor travels extensively and journeys have included cycling through the Himalayas from Srinagar to Shimla, or along the Danube from its source in the Black Forest to the Black Sea. These journeys invariably generate ideas that inspire new work and nurture the artist's lifelong fascination with animals and birds and their symbolic cultural significance across countries, transcending time and place.

*Join Eleanor in our galleries on Saturday 4 August from 1-4pm for some fantastic participatory activities for all ages where you can make or draw your own animals and imaginative beasts inspired by her exhibition. Visit our website roevalleyarts.com for details.

LISA HANNIGAN

Friday 31 August, 8pm

Tickets: £20

These are stunningly pretty songs with quietly powerful undercurrents.

Dave Simpson, The Guardian

With an air of serene beauty and a voice of ethereal wonder...Hannigan creates music that sneaks up and envelops listeners in cocoons of sound.

Neil McCormich, The Telegraph

We are absolutely delighted to welcome Lisa to Limavady for one of only two intimate current performances in Northern Ireland. Mercury Prize nominated and multiple Meteor Award winner, her music is greatly reminiscent of introspective folk artists such as Nick Drake, but is not wary of delving straight into the eccentric impulses rampant in the works of musicians like Kate Bush.

Lisa released her third – and arguably most bewitching – album 'At Swim' in August 2016. Produced by Aaron Dessner, the critically acclaimed record followed the double-platinum, Mercury-nominated debut 'Sea Sew', and 2011's 'Passenger', which charted at number 1 in Ireland, and earned Lisa another Choice Music Prize nomination.
